Williamson Act

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Williamson Act of the US state of California (officially, the California Land Conservation Act of 1965) is a California law that provides relief of property tax to owners of farmland and open-space land in exchange for a ten-year agreement that the land will not be developed or otherwise converted to another use. The motivation for the Williamson Act is to promote voluntary land conservation, particularly farmland conservation. In 2010, legislation was passed by the California State Senate and State Assembly and sent to the governor for signing in the form of Senate Bill 1142. This bill was created to provide a relief stream of funding for the Williamson Act.^[1]

According to Santa Barbara County records, you are currently under contract as a participant in the Agricultural Preserve Program (Williamson Act) and/or you have an Agricultural Conservation Easement. You will receive your regular tax bill from the County Tax Collector's office in October 2018.

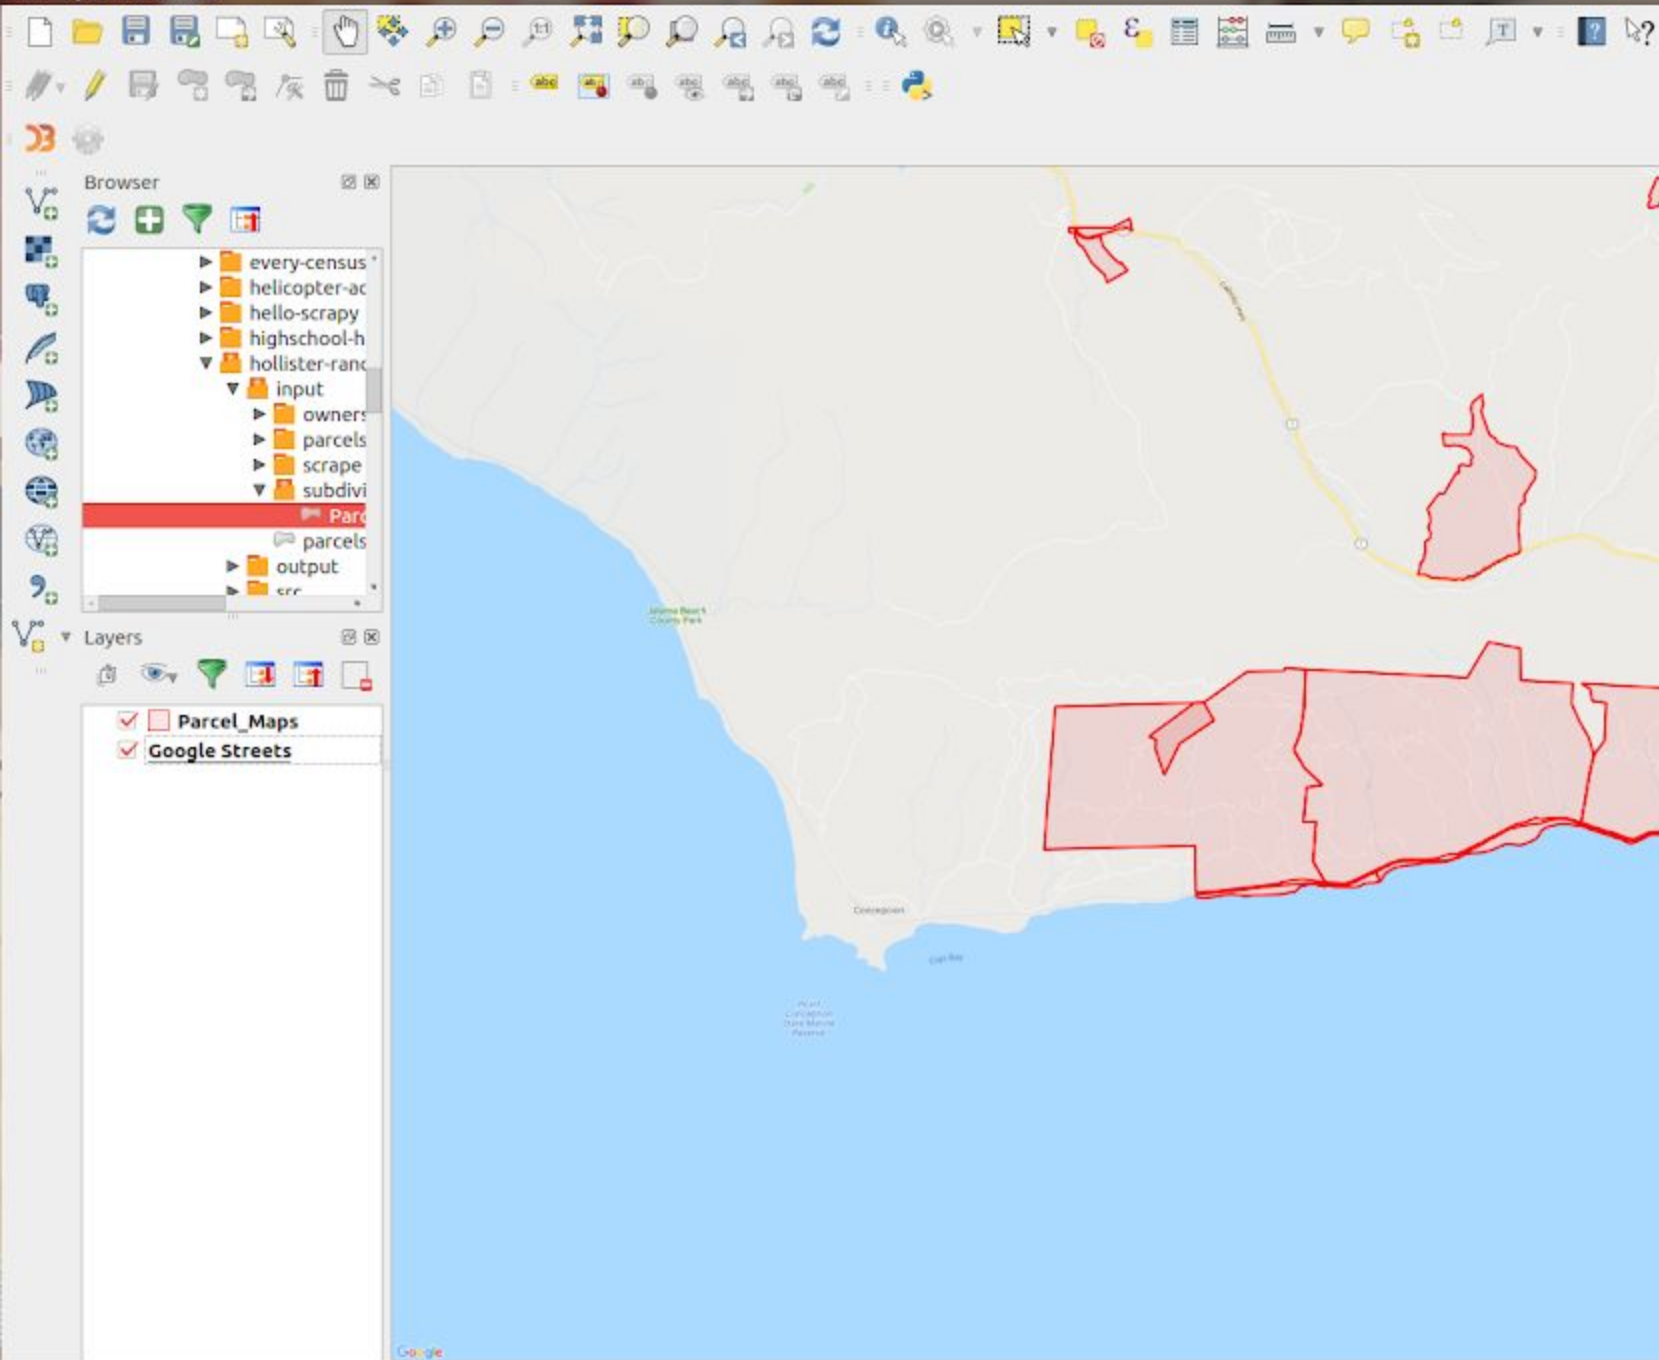

The County Assessor is required to assess this property each year to ensure that the value placed on the tax roll is in compliance with the Williamson Act and the Revenue & Taxation Code. Consequently, the assessed value as of January 1, 2018 is the lesser of the: 1) Economic Value, 2) Proposition 13 Factored Base Year Value, or 3) Current Fair Market Value. However, in the case of a contract that covers multiple parcels the taxable value may be greater than the Proposition 13 value for an individual parcel. It is the total value of all parcels in the contract appraisal unit that is compared to their total Proposition 13 value.

YOUR TAXES WILL BE BASED ON THE LOWEST VALUE AS SHOWN UNDER Taxable Value BELOW

Fiscal Year 2018-19	Economic Value	Prop 13, Factored Base Year Value	Taxable Value

Hi Ben,

You can order a copy of our Assessor Parcel GIS BaseMap using the form at the link below
under the heading 'Mapping':

www.sbcassessor.com/Assessor/AssessorForms.aspx

We do not send the County address data with ownership over the internet, per our interpretation of the impact of the California State Attorney Opinion on publishing Public official names and addresses over the internet.

If you would like to acquire the Basemap of the County without ownership information or transfer data, you can download the shape file from our Assessor public FTP site for free.

Thanks for writing back? What is the justification under the California Public Records Act for there to be a charge for this data? As I'm sure you know, there was a recently state Supreme Court decision that said parcel files should be treated as any other record, for which the cost is simply reproduction. The form I'm looking at say it costs over $50 to purchase the file.

Lake Elsinore Private Dies in Iraq Crash

The soldier, 18, is killed in a vehicle accident in Mosul. He had a go-for-it attitude and 'was born and bred in the military,' his mother says.

August 14, 2003 | Joy L. Woodson | Times Staff Writer

An Army private from Lake Elsinore has died in a vehicle accident in Mosul, Iraq, authorities said.

Pfc. Daniel R. Parker, 18, was thrown from a vehicle when the driver swerved to avoid an oncoming taxi in another lane Tuesday, a Defense Department spokesman said.

Parker graduated from Lake Elsinore High School in 2002, where he was an ROTC member for four years.

Parker was assigned to 44th Air Defense Artillery Regiment, 101st Airborne Division in Fort Campbell.

Family members remembered him as a dedicated young man who never wanted to do anything besides join the Army.

Parker's father, Billy, retired from the 82nd Airborne, family members said.

"He was born and bred in the military," said his mother, Sherri Parker, "and wanted to go in the military since he was 7."

She said that even though he joined the military directly after high school, he always found time to advise and write his four siblings: Dustin, 16; Dalton, 15; Danielle, 10; and Dallas, 6.

Danielle was the last one to receive a letter from her big brother. In it he had promised a trip to Disneyland when he returned.

He missed a trip planned earlier this year to the amusement park because he was shipped out on March 3.

"Through high school he was pretty much involved with friends," his mother said, "but once he got in the military he would call the boys and say, 'Do good in school, do good in school.'"

She said that what the family will miss most about him was his ready-for-anything-anytime attitude. He played hockey when he was younger, loved to inline skate and was an Angels fan.

Autumn Johnson, the Compton girl who was shot and killed in her crib, is laid to rest

Autumn Johnson, 1

By NICOLE SANTA CRUZ, RUBEN VIVES, AND CORINA KNOLL

POSTED FEB. 11, 2016

Autumn Johnson, a 1-year-old girl, was shot and killed Tuesday, Feb. 9, in the 300 block of North Holly Avenue in Compton, according to authorities.

Shortly before 7 p.m., the child's mother, Blanche Wandick, was preparing her child a bottle when she heard gunshots. The child was standing in her crib when she was shot in the head.

"That's all. That's all I can say. That's it. I miss my baby, I love my baby, but she is gone," said the 21-year-old.

Behind her, blood dotted the driveway leading to the yellow garage where Wandick lives with Autumn's father.

Sheriff's officials said that a gunman got out of a blue Chevrolet Impala, walked toward the home and fired at the garage. The gunman then got back into the car, which was seen heading south on North Holly Avenue.

Michael Jackson, a 50-year-old black man, died Thursday, June 25, after he was given a surgical anesthetic, in combination with other medication, at his rented home in the 100 block of N. Carolwood in Holmby Hills, according to authorities.

Two months after Jackson died, Los Angeles County coroner's officials released their determination that his death was a homicide.

The following is an excerpt from Times' reporters Richard Winton and Harriet Ryan's Aug. 29, 2009 story on that decision:

The Los Angeles County coroner's office has officially ruled Michael Jackson's death a homicide and determined that a surgical anesthetic combined with other medication killed him.

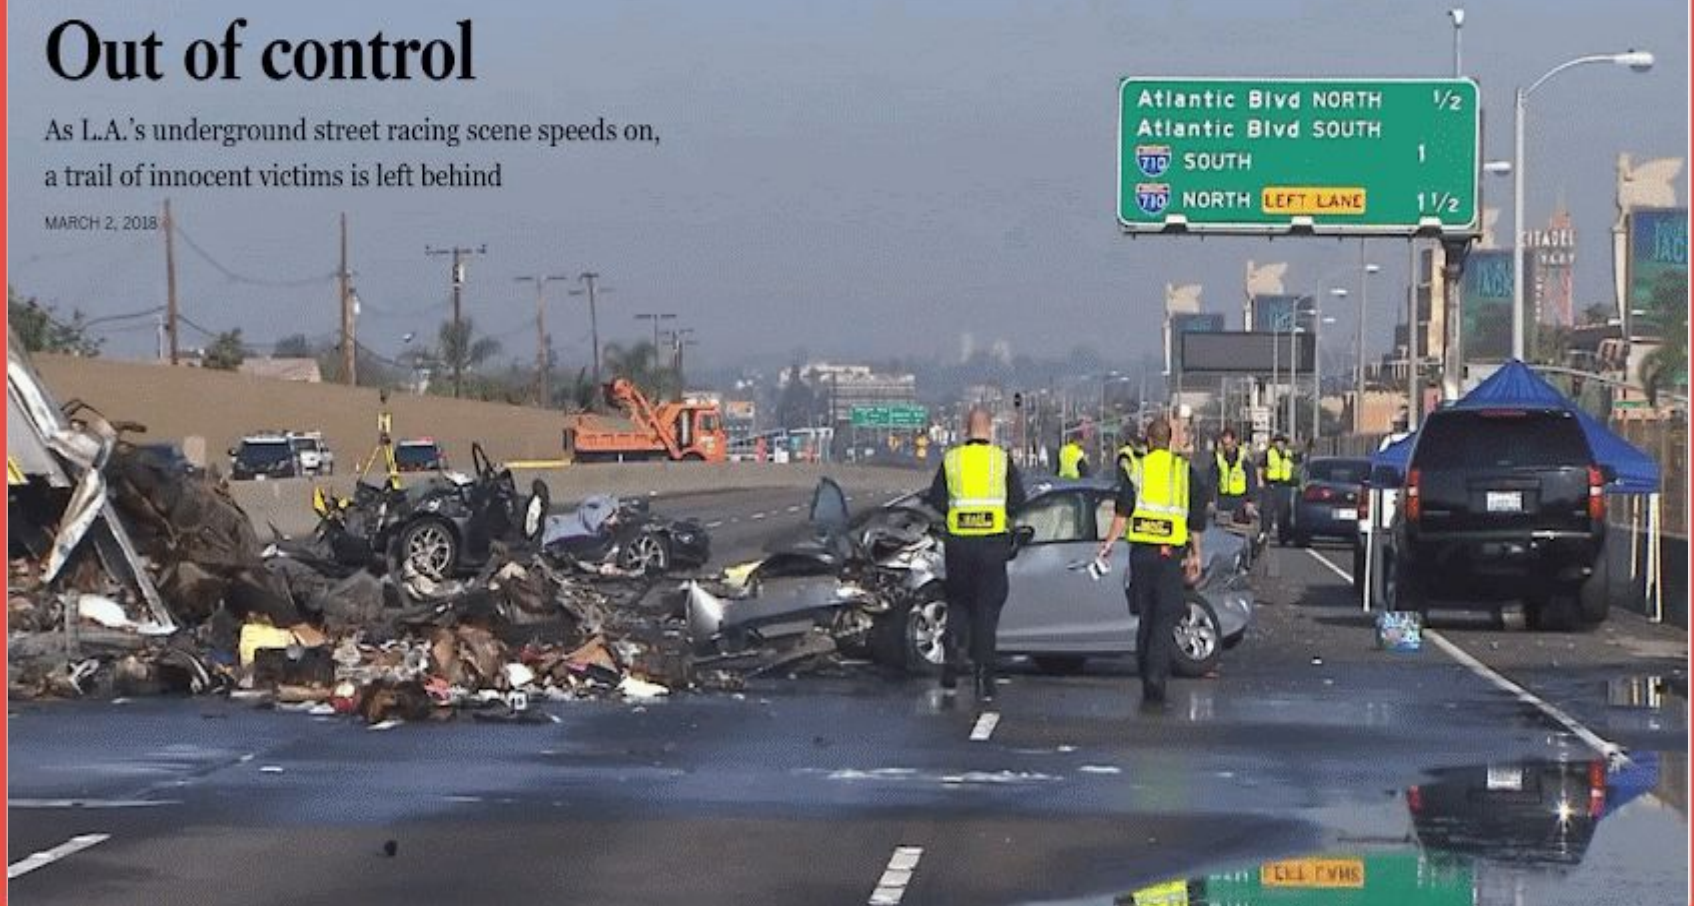

In a one-page statement, officials listed the cause of Jackson's June 25 death as "acute

This analysis of street racing fatalities in Los Angeles County was conducted for the March 16, 2018, Los Angeles Times story "Out of Control: The deadly toll of Los Angeles street racing."

From 2000 to 2017, at least 179 people in Los Angeles County have died in crashes where street racing was suspected, according to a database of coroner's records, police reports and media accounts compiled by Los Angeles Times reporters James Queally and Nicole Santa Cruz.

The deadliest year on record during that span was 2007, with 18 fatal crashes. The dead are overwhelmingly male and young: More than half are 21 or younger, including a 4-year-old girl killed with her mother and 8-year-old brother. Slightly less than half of the victims— 47% — were pushing the accelerator. The rest were either passengers in the speeding vehicles, spectators or people simply walking on a sidewalk or driving home.

Deaths have occurred in all areas of Los Angeles County, but some places — Long Beach, Santa Clarita, industrial zones Southeast of downtown and the wide boulevards that stretch across South L.A. and the San Fernando Valley — have become hotbeds of fatal activity.

In the past three years, seven people have died on the streets of Commerce, a city of about 13,000 traversed by the 5 and 710 freeways. Three of those deaths — including two teenagers on their way home from Disneyland — occurred in a fiery 2016 crash set off when a suspected street racer driving more than 100 mph lost control on the 5.

The data and computer code that generated those conclusions is below.

Results from the California primary

By LOS ANGELES TIMES STAFF

JUNE 5, 2018

The election is over. Votes are still being counted, but we've learned a lot. Here are three storylines that have developed:

1. The GOP made the cut for governor. Because of California's unusual primary system, the top two vote-getters move on, regardless of party. When the campaign started, it was unclear if a GOP candidate could get enough votes to advance. Republican John Cox, boosted by support from President Trump, rose to the challenge. He'll face Democrat Gavin Newsom, the strongly favored front-runner, in November.

2. The "blue wave" kept rolling. Democrats in California appear poised to challenge for key congressional races in November. With most precincts reporting, Democrats are on track to capture second place in the Republican-held districts they aim to claim this fall.

The race to become California's next governor is already awash in cash

By RYAN MENEZES AND MALOY MOORE

UPDATED AUG. 2, 2017

A small field of candidates hoping to succeed Gov. Jerry Brown next year has already raised more than $30 million. Here's what we know.

Who's raised the most?

Gavin Newsom, whose donors range from Silicon Valley to Hollywood, has raised more money than his competition combined. Asian American business leaders have contributed large sums to John Chiang, while Antonio Villaraigosa has reached out to wealthy Angelenos.
